Mosque-Cathedral of Cordoba

This Mosque-Cathedral is one of the most important monuments and attractions in Cordoba. This attraction is the center of long history between the Christians, Jews, and Muslims. The combination of architecture stemming from baroque styles to gothic is the reason why this site is consistently awarded as the best tourist site in Europe. In addition to the Roman columns and the Greek arcs, enjoy the beauty of the stained glass windows inside this Mosque-Cathedral.

Alcazar of the Christian Monarchs

The Alcazar is a military building in the city of Cordoba, Spain located on the banks of the Guadalquivir River. The King Alfonso XI of Castile ordered its construction in the year 1328 on the old Andalusian Alcazar. This building is rich with history and beautiful decoration as it was formerly the residence of Roman governors and a space for celebrations and events.

Roman Bridge of Cordoba

Located on the Guadalquivir River, the bridge joins the countryside with the rest of the district close to the cathedral. Also known as “The Old Bridge,” the bridge was built in the 1st century. For a long time, it was considered the only bridge until the mid 20th century. This bridge gives the visual representation of how historic creations are still used in the modern world in relevant and effective ways.

Roman Temple of Cordoba

Discovered in the 1950s during the expansion of Cordoba’s city hall, the temple is located on the streets of Claudio Marcelo and Capitulars. The temple’s construction began during the reign of Emperor Claudius of the 1st century. Made exclusively of marble, from columns to the walls, the quality of the marble and size showcases that this temple was carried out by skilled craftsmen of high quality. This is said to be one of the most beautiful buildings during the empires of the 1st and 2nd centuries.

Bar Santos

Opening their doors for the first time in 1966, Bar Santos is known for their famous dish: the potato tortilla. Apart from its exquisite flavor, the dish is also unique for its large size. Normally, the tortilla reaches around 4 kilos and a thickness of 14 centimeters. In addition to the potato tortilla, they also have the typical dishes like tapas and salmorejo.

Gongora Tavern

This tavern prides itself on the quality of their food. The chef gives much attention to the recipes and each individual dish. With a combination of traditional Cordoba recipes to new modern dishes, you will want to come here again and again. Here you must try their salmorejo, meat croquettes, and fried anchovies with lemon.

Casa Pepe de la Judería

A few steps from the mosque-cathedral, you will find Casa Pepe. Although it may not be the cheapest place, its quality and well-finished dishes are worth the extra payments. We highly recommend all the various tapas, especially the bull's tail (their specialization)!

Taberna Luque (Luque Tavern)

This restaurant is a great place for those who want to eat a lot! Here, the most popular is the homemade flamenquin of Iberian loin and ham. However, the grilled squids and beef stew are always a great alternative.
